Course Description:

The course provides an overview of the legal issues underpinning commercial transactions with a strong international component. Substantive content includes the rights and obligations of parties as a result of international contracts, for example a contractual agreement to sell and transport goods. The course also considers the legal aspects of international finance. In addition, it focuses on the study of multinational enterprises and its relevant legal framework including competition, product liability law and securities regulations. Current developments both in intellectual property and Technology Law are also included. Choice of jurisdiction, applicable law and international conflict resolution provide the procedural aspects of the course.

Prerequisites:
MGT 5220

Aims and Objectives:

This course will provide students with an in-depth understanding of the legal dimension of transnational business. It will also develop students' critical thinking skills in matching business objectives with adequate legal tools. Students will be kept abreast with the impact of technology on international business and how law needs to adequately cater for novel situations.

Students will learn about dispute settlement, choice of law and jurisdiction and recognition of foreign court resolutions. Recognising the impact of technology in different business sectors, students will be provided with a specific analysis of intellectual property and the ever increasing International Technology Law. Students will be exposed to legal aspects of e-commerce, transborder data protection and software licensing.
